

CRANKSGIVING KC

Saturday, Nov 19th 12-6pm

Cranksgiving is a food drive on two wheels. Part bike ride, part food drive, and part scavenger hunt.

“There are 2 rules to Cranksgiving: 1.) Get food. 2.) Do it on a bike.”

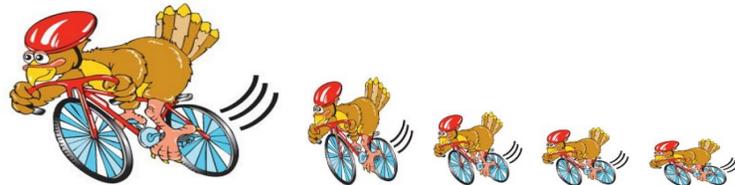

Kansas City, Missouri, November 19, 2016 - For the eleventh year in a row, bicyclists in Kansas City will take part in a charity food drive event, riding their bikes throughout the area purchasing needed groceries for the St. Peter's Social Services Food Pantry. There are no requirements other than to “get food” and “do it on a bike”. While many Cranksgiving events are a traditional “alleycat” competition where speed is crucial, the Kansas City event has grown into a superhuman effort, where according to parishioner Sam Swearngin, “in Kansas City, we celebrate the heaviest load”. Last year's event led the nation for total weight collected hauling in just over 6000 lbs. Riders start their ride at 12:30PM and return to St. Peter's by 3:30. Methods of carrying groceries vary from messenger bags and backpacks to baskets, panniers and even cargo trailers. Once the riders return, their “haul” is officially weighed in and they are rewarded with a “beer & chili feed” party in the gym with live music, that is open to the public as well. More details can be found at www.facebook.com/CranksgivingKC

The first Cranksgiving in Kansas City was started by local photographer and cyclist Michael Forrester, with Grant Redwine and Jason Wingate. The race brought together riders from the various communities within Kansas City area cycling. The following year, the Greater Kansas City Bicycle Federation and 816 Bicycle Collective began organizing subsequent Cranksgivings. In recent years, St. Peter's Food Pantry was designated as the recipient for all the food collected and staff and volunteers from St. Peter's Catholic Parish have assumed organizing duties.
